

POSITIVE ALTITUDE

Saturday, June 22nd, 2019
11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.
Hangar 1 at Mather Jet Center

On Saturday, June 22nd, hundreds of young people from all over the region will be given an opportunity that many could only dream of. Using the power and magic of flight, kids will enjoy eye-opening afternoon of endless opportunity, inspiration and life-changing possibilities that await them around colorful airplanes, helicopters, police and fire vehicles, and more. Exposure to such unique and interactive experiences can expand a young person's imagination and broaden their outlook on life, as well as their view of the world.

But California Capital Airshow's 'Positive Altitude' isn't just about aviation or the thrill of flying; this event is so much more. It is about the opportunities that lie ahead if these young people are given the tools to succeed. Half the battle is exposing children to life beyond their neighborhood, showing them the possibilities and excitement that lie ahead. We hope this unique event inspires kids to strive for a better life and achieve the greatness that we all know they possess.

The Experience

11:00 a.m.

All Students

Hangar 1 at Mather Jet Center
10440 Truemper Way Mather, CA 95655

Students and parents will explore the many exciting interactive displays, interact with dozens of aircraft of varying sizes, engage in question and answer sessions with pilots, play games, and enjoy other exciting planned activities. Students will be able to enjoy a FREE tasty lunch.
